

obscurity, the usual suspect behind failure invest in your exposure and reputation heavily.

innovate in your communications and distribution methods, publish consistently in public, show up where your people already are, initiate important conversations, ask for the intro, send the message, schedule the meeting, give the best part away generously keeping your promises, do what you said you would do, ship great work, raise the bar for excellent work