

obsess over the next step don't solve a problem that is ten step ahead if next step isn't obvious, zoom out ask what assumption needs to be verified next design an experiment to verify that assumption if the experiment failed, ask why, document it change the conditions of the experiment & try again repeat the process till all possibilities are exhausted if failed to verify the assumption, its time to change it